Evaluating Your Leadership Style

A Web-Based Course for Healthcare Professionals

Everyone, regardless of position, can be more effective with good leadership skills. In this course, you will assess your own general approach to supervising others and your particular leadership style. You will receive feedback about those areas in which you can make changes to be more effective as well as suggestions for becoming a more effective leader, regardless of style. Links to other websites and references are provided.

What is careLearning.com?

CareLearning.com is a non-profit organization formed by over 42 state hospital associations. A website, www.carelearning.com, has been established for the purpose of providing web-based courses and a learner tracking system for healthcare professionals. While individuals can access most courses on the site, hospitals and healthcare organizations may want to consider participating as an organization and bulk enrolling its employees. For more information, or to take a demo course, go to www.carelearning.com.
