Public policy decisions impact every aspect of our roles and responsibilities in healthcare; it affects our patients, our workplace and the communities we serve. That's why I hope you'll make a plan to vote in the upcoming Texas midterm election.

This election, several races could come down to just a handful of votes; your vote might be the one that decides it. Elections are an accessible avenue to having your voice heard through your vote.

This midterm election will directly impact healthcare nationwide and in Texas for years to come. The top policy issues address the future of critical funding hospitals rely on and the long-term financial stability of health care providers across Texas.

I encourage you to vote during early voting from October 19 - 30 or on Election Day on November 3.

Thank you for the work you do every day for our patients and our community, and for taking part in the civic process that helps shape the future of health care in Texas.
